What is Seborrheic Dermatitis?

Seborrheic Dermatitis is a form of skin inflammation (dermatitis) that causes a red, oily, flaking skin rash in areas of the body where glands in the skin called sebaceous glands are most abundant - the scalp, face and groin.

About 12.5 million adults have seborrheic dermatitis, in which the most common symptom is dandruff.

Because your scalp
deserves care”

SEBORICA™ INTRODUCTION

The flaking and itchy skin caused by seborrheic dermatitis can be very uncomfortable and often leads to feeling self-conscious or alone during flare-ups. Fortunately, there is much you can do to tame these inflammatory skin conditions.

Say goodbye to persistent flakes, redness, and itchiness with Seborica, the advanced shampoo formulated to manage seborrheic dermatitis. Designed for sensitive, scaly scalps, Seborica deeply cleanses, controls Malassezia overgrowth, and restores scalp balance.
